

Associate Dean for Research (Rank: Associate/Full Professor), School of Architecture and Planning, University at Buffalo

<https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=54614>

Associate or Full Professor in Urban and Regional Planning (specialization is open) that also serves as the Associate Dean for Research and Scholarship in the School of Architecture and Planning. This position is responsible for providing leadership to the faculty in the implementation of the research mission of the School; directing the Regional Institute; mentoring faculty in the development of their scholarship, research and creative activities; providing counsel to the Dean on all research and scholarship matters; representing the School on university, community, and professional bodies; and collaborating with the professions of Architecture and Planning, community agencies and other university school and departments to create innovative opportunities and partnerships for research and scholarship.

Minimum Qualifications

Applicants must have a Doctorate in Planning or related field, be eligible for tenure, and have demonstrated leadership, mentoring skills, and ability to work well with faculty, students, staff, and community partners; demonstrated success in external research funding; a record of distinction in research, scholarship and teaching in urban and regional planning or related field; and a sustained record of externally funded work.

Required Applicant Documents

Cover Letter
Letter of Interest
Research Statement
CV

Contact Information

William McDonnell
Associate Dean
mcdonnel@buffalo.edu
716-829-3920